Taking support and justice for victims to the next level

Connecting people, resources and knowledge

Members of Victim Support Europe need to connect with the member organisations throughout Europe to learn and develop. Victim support organisations need to connect in their own countries and Europe-wide with other organisations and the government to support victims. And our staff (paid, volunteer) always need to connect with the individual victim and those who lost their loved ones by crime. By building networks where expertise, practices and resources can be shared. By connecting on different levels and different scales we will develop and take support and justice for victims to the next level.
